The famous fabrications, which, though made only for amusement, have led numismatists into some queer errors. When, in the future, the heirs of the late Charles I. Bushnell dispose of the coins which I lent to him, the return of which I have repeatedly but vainly requested, the pieces will be very likely to cause renewed excitement, as they are certainly among the curiosities of American numismatics.

189 Woodward. Catalogue No. 18. Uncut, priced. New York, 1874.

The following catalogues of this series are printed on extra heavy tinted paper, especially for collectors. They are all in perfect condition, uncut, and neatly priced. To the completion of this series many collectors have given great attention, showing as much interest in collecting the catalogues as in the coins which they describe. I am in daily receipt of orders, one recent one being for an entire set. Some of the series can no longer be supplied. All are of coins and medals, unless otherwise mentioned. Nearly all the sales took place in New York; a few in Boston.

CONFEDERATE PUBLICATIONS

The owners of the following books and pamphlets printed in the South during the rebellion, under the impression that great quantities of Confederate publications were still to be found at the South in the hands of the book sellers, made a journey to Richmond during the last summer, the principal object of which was the acquisition of this class of books. After somewhat extensive travel, a thorough search and numerous inquiries, he returned satisfied that this class of books is now rare in the South than here, this meagre collection being the same result of his personal search.

MARBLE STATUARY.

BY DR. HORATIO STONE, LATE OF WASHINGTON.

The busts may be seen from Tuesday, March 4, at the place of sale, the Auction Rooms of Messrs. Bangs & Co., 739, 741, Broadway, and the Statue of Beatrice is on exhibition at the establishment of S. Klaber, 219 West 51st Street, New York.

446*a* BUST OF DR. WILLIAM HARVEY, discoverer of the circulation of the blood. Height 30 in.: stands on a round marble pedestal 45 in. high, and 17 in. in dia.: bears date "Rome 1869."

446*b* BUST OF ALEXANDER HAMILTON. Stands on a marble pedestal of the same size and style as the preceding: made at Rome in 1867.

446*c* BUST OF CORINNE.

It will be remembered that Corinne was the heroine and name of Madame De Stael's novel. Her lover proving false, she gradually faded out. This bust corresponds in size with the first described: it is without a pedestal. Cut at Rome 1869.

446*d* STATUE OF BEATRICE.

Beatrice was the child-love of Dante: she married another, and died before she was twenty-four: marrying unhappily. Dante cherished his early love, and Beatrice was the fountain of his poetic inspiration, and in the Divina Commedia, he makes her "the Heavenly Wisdom," his guide through Paradise. Byron says,

> "Dante's Beatrice and Milton's Eve,
> Were not drawn from their spouses you conceive."

The statue is full length, with pedestal: the entire height about 8 feet.

PREHISTORIC STONE RELICS.

551 Spear Point of yellow clouded jasper; triangular, with thin, hollowed base; finely wrought. 4½ x 2.

ARROW HEADS, ETC., FROM THE NORTHWEST.

My correspondent, from whom I have obtained thousands of these points, writes me: "Where I bought by thousands formerly, I am now glad to buy by the dozen." He also informs me that an agent, who formerly supplied him in great quantities, has now an order for 2,000 dozen as they come, perfect and broken, at 12½ cents each. It then appears that the supply of these beautiful points is nearly at an end.

657 Pendant, dug from a mound near Clear Lake, Indiana: fine. 4 x 2¼.

658 A Soapstone Dish, capacity more than a pint: the finest wrought dish of undoubted antiquity that I have ever met with of this material: perfect, with the exception of a small hole at one side near the bottom. Height 4½ in., long inside diameter 5 in., cross diam. 3½ in.

659 Catlinite Pipe, from the Arizona Indians: fine, but has been much used.

660 Pretty little Turtle Back or Knife: semi-ovate; very fine. 1¾ x 1½.

661 An immense Soapstone Dish, weighing about 75 lbs. This dish is from the collection of Mr. Lakin, of Bennington, N. H., who bought it as genuine, and sold it to me as such: if of aboriginal work, it is a very fine example, being perfect and of unusual size; although I have no positive information on the subject since I purchased it, circumstances have led me to doubt its authenticity: my confidence in it, however, is such, that I shall not throw it away, and the price is limited to $8. Long diam. 15 in., short diam. 12 in., height 8 in.; has projecting handles at the ends.

662 Soapstone Dish, capacity about half a pint: oval, neatly finished and polished inside and out: recent work, but a very pretty object. 4 x 3¼ x 2½.

663 Large Grooved Axe of dark sandstone, from O.: perfect and of uncommon size. 8½ x 4¾.

664 Grooved Axe of granitic rock, Ohio: edge chipped, otherwise very fine. 7 x 3.

665 Grooved Axe, Pa., Ralston Coll.; very good. 5 x 3¼.

666 Grooved Axe, O.; square head, narrowed point, broad groove, with projection above and below: very fine. 4¾ x 3.

667 Grooved Axe, West Va.; broad groove, tapering from groove to edge, wedge-form; very fine. 4¾ x 2¾.

668 Grooved Axe, Ky. The peculiarity of this axe is, that on the flats below the groove it is ornamented with a series of zigzag lines, bearing in each angle a dot. The axe shows secondary work over its surface, with the exception of one side, the head, and a part of one flat, and on one side the ornamentation appears to be of the same kind, while on the other it appears to be contemporary with the earlier work; of large size, in extra condition, and is certainly a most remarkable specimen. 6½ x 4. 3 in. in thickness.

669 Grooved Axe, Brookfield, Wisconsin; narrowing at the point, chipped; gouged. 4½ x 4

670 Grooved Axe, Ohio; narrows at the point; very fine. 5½ x 3¼

671 Grooved Axe, Lenawee, Ind.; expanding head; from the Beales Coll., rare form. 6½ x 3½.

672 Large, curved Axe of remarkable form, from the Ralston Coll.; edge chipped, otherwise perfect. 9½ x 3½.

673 Grooved Axe, O.; nearly oval. 6 x 4

674 Grooved Axe, O.; almost square; fine. 4½ x 4.

675 Grooved Axe, O.; grooved all around, edge narrowed; very fine. 5½ x 4.

676 Grooved Axe, Lafayette, Ind.; sides flat; fine. 5½ x 3½.

677 Grooved Axe of black stone. Western; fine. 5 x 4

678 Grooved Axe, O., flat top; fine. 4½ x 2½.

679 Grooved Axe, Western; deep diagonal groove, of gray stone, polished, the edge extends up one side to the groove, very fine. 6 x 3½.

680 Grooved Axe, Green Bay, Wis.; dark, nearly black stone; fine. 6 x 3½.

CELTS.

Under this name will be found examples of nearly all the objects called tomahawks, ungrooved axes, chisels, wedges, flakers, peckers, and other many names used to indicate the same general form.

681 Celt, O., of light material; perfect. 5 x 2½

682 Celt, Hampden Co., Mass.; one side flat, edge expanding; fine, a rare implement, especially from N. E. 6½ x 2½

683 Celt of fine-grained sandstone, Southern, probably N.C.; very fine. 5 x 2.

684 Celt, Gallipolis, O.: round, head nearly triangular: very fine. $4\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

685 Oval Celt: very fine. 4 x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

686 Celt or Skinner, Hampden Co., Mass.: one side flat, edge slightly gouge-form. One of the best made N. E. implements that I have ever met with, and as such very rare. $5\frac{1}{4}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

687 Celt, near Milwaukee, Wis.: sides nearly parallel: perfect: from the Beales Coll. 7 x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

688 Celt: round, the top nearly pointed, rare form, edge chipped: fine. $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

689 Celt, Franklin Co., Mo.: of enormous size and perfect in form and condition, the largest and altogether the most remarkable Celt that I have ever possessed: the form round, a little flattened. $13\frac{1}{2}$ x 3. Weight a little short of 7 lbs.

690 Celt of grey granite from Michigan: from the Jenison Collection. When sold with that collection, this Celt appeared to be perfect, but the removal of an enclosing label, revealed the fact that it was broken across: a superb specimen and perfect, but for the defect named. $9\frac{1}{2}$ x $3\frac{1}{2}$.

691 Grooved Celt, found below New Albany, Ind.: purple slate: triangular in form, the head nearly pointed, the edge broadly expanded, the bevel being mostly on one side: finely finished, and amongst all the stone objects that I have seen, I have never found this form duplicated. $9\frac{3}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$.

692 Celt, Brookfield, Wis.: top nearly pointed: very good. $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

693 Flat Celt with rounded sides, Western: very fine. $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

694 Celt, O.: edge slightly gouge-form: fine. $5\frac{3}{4}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

695 Celt, O.: rounded top: fine. $4\frac{1}{4}$ x $2\frac{1}{8}$.

696 Celt, Mich.: sandstone: convex on one side, with longitudinal ridge on the other: rare form and very fine. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

697 Celt: one flat highly convex, the other less so: form like the preceding, without the ridge: from the Ralston Coll.: very fine. 5 x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

698 Celt, Pa.: from the Pennypacker Coll.: tapering towards the top: very fine. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x 2.

699 Celt, Lincoln Co., Middle Tenn.: fine. 5 x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

700 Celt, W. Va.: fine. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

701 Celt, W. Va.; been used with a hammer; fine. 4 x 2½.
702 Celt, Southern; of great size and evidently very old. 9½ x 3.
703 Celt, Alexander Co., N. C.; swelling at the middle, tapering towards the edge and top; resembles Cartridge pick; very fine. 5¼ x 2¼.
704 Celt, Western; fine. 5½ x 2½.
705 Celt, Allegheny, Pa.; one side flat; very fine. 4 x 2.
706 Celt, Rhea Co., Tenn.; top nearly pointed; fine. 6 x 2.
707 Celt, Ind.; oblong; fine. 3½ x 2.
708 Celt of black stone, Montgomery Co., Ala. 5 x 2½.
709 Celt, Mahoning Co., O.; oval; very fine. 3½ x 2½.

GOUGES

Amongst American prehistoric stone implements the Gouge is certainly the rarest amongst implements I class objects used in war, the chase and for household purposes.

710 Gouge, Westerly, R. I.; of dark, mottled stone; the concavity of the edges slight though well defined; very fine. 4½ x 2.
711 Gouge, Northfield, Mass.; top rounded, edge a little chipped, groove extends nearly the whole length; a fine example. 8 x 2½.
712 Gouge, Litchfield, N. H.; of light stone; fine. 4½ x 2.
713 Gouge, N. H.; from the Lakin Coll.; very fine indeed, the groove extends to the top. 5 x 1½.
714 Adze Gouge, Hampden Co., Mass.; elliptical, double groove; very fine and rare. 8½ x 2½.
715 Gouge, Western Mass.; slightly grooved midway between the top and edge. 6½ x 2½.
716 Gouge, Northfield, Mass.; concave in the whole length; very fine. 7 x 2½.
717 Gouge, N. H.; the whole length deeply concave; a piece broken from the side and edge, with which exception it is very fine. 5½ x 1¾.
718 Adze Gouge, N. H.; broad groove commencing about one-third of the length, edge broken, originally very fine. 6 x 1½.
719 Gouge, N. H.; fine. 4 x 2½.
720 Gouge, Western Mass.; concavity slight, fine. 7½ x 1¼.

721 Gouge, Mass.; concavity narrowing and extending to the top: very fine. $3\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

722 Gouge, Hampden Co., Mass; edge diagonal: fine, and a very rare form. $3\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

723 Gouge, N. C.; very fine indeed, and as a Southern implement, of great rarity. $3\frac{3}{4}$ x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

724 Gouge, N. H.: fine, uncommon form. $4\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{5}{8}$.

725 Gouge, Mass.; top gone; very fine. $2\frac{1}{2}$ $1\frac{3}{4}$.

726 Large Gouge: Abington, Mass.: imperfect. $3\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

HEMATITES.

The objects made of this beautiful material, a handsome-colored, ponderous ore of iron, in specific gravity little less than the pure metal, are uniformly rare.

727 Oval Celt, O.: very fine. 3 x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

728 Celt, O.: the surface from great age has become patinated: fine, though slightly chipped. $2\frac{1}{2}$ x $\frac{1}{2}$.

729 Celt, Ky.: one of the largest and very finest objects in this ore that I have ever met with. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

730 Celt, O.: very good: $2\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

731 Celt, O.; edge chipped, otherwise fine. $2\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{2}$.

732 Celt, Ky.: very fine. $2\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{7}{8}$.

733 Muller: somewhat hemispherical: fine. $1\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

734 Celt, O.: oblong. $2\frac{3}{8}$ x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

735 Celt, O.; rounded top, edge chipped. $2\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{2}$.

ORNAMENTS AND PERFORATED OBJECTS.

736 Ornament of light-striped slate, Allegheny Co., Pa.: tapers from the middle, the ends square, finely finished, without perforation. $4\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{2}$.

737 Pendant, O.: oblong, narrows towards the top: very fine. $3\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

738 Pendant of metamorphic slate, Western Ohio: ends rounded, middle contracted. $4\frac{1}{4}$ x 2.

739 Pendant from the Nissley Coll.: striped slate: oblong: very fine. $3\frac{3}{4}$ x $1\frac{7}{8}$.

740 Pendant, O.; metamorphic slate; cut diagonally across the grain, perforation near the top; fine. 3 x 1¼.

741 Pendant, O.; oval. 3 x 2.

742 Pendant, O.; purple slate. 4 x 1½.

743 Pendant, Ky.; large perforation. 3¼ x 2¼.

744 Pendant, O.; purple slate, looks like hematite; very fine. 4 x 2½.

745 Pendant, O.; ends square, sides curving toward without perforation; fine. 3 x 1½.

746 Gorget, O.; small perforation, oblong; fine. 4¼ x 2½.

747 Pendant, O.; striped slate; top much narrowed. 4½x1½.

748 Pendant, O.; both edges covered with cuttes; fine, curious. 3½ x 2.

749 Gorget; broad in the middle, tapers toward the end, thick; a strange form. 4¼ x 1¼.

750 Gorget, O.; thin. 5 x 2.

751 Soapstone Buckshot Moulds, a relic of the early settlement of Ohio; rare and curious.

752 Unsymmetrical Banner Stone; horn-shape; fine. 3½x1½.

753 Banner Stone; metamorphic slate; one end broken; originally very fine. 8¼ x 3.

754 Tube of striped slate, O.; one end a little broken; fine. 3½ x 1¼.

755 Tube of slate, split at one end, the detached portion remaining; fine. 5¼ x 1.

756 An object in very heavy stone, an unfinished tube, or it may be a pipe, O.; perforation commenced and expanding as it extends; fine. 2 x 1½.

757 Bar Amulet, O.; shows an ancient break and repairs. The amulet so-called is amongst the rarest of American prehistoric remains; the rarest form is the last amulet; fine. 3¼ x ½.

758 Bar Amulet, O.; shows repairs like the last, but the perforation is in a different direction; very rare; 3¼ x ½.

759 Bar Amulet, O.; broken, but originally very fine. 3½ x 3¼.

760 Tube with perforation commenced; fine. 2¼ x 1½.

761 Tube, Northwest O.; striped slate; one side flattened; perfect, rare. 3½ x 1½.

762 Tube, O.; very good. 2½ x 1½.

763 Tube, N. J.: a longitudinal section. This piece appears to have been used as a rubber or polisher: the sides are partially covered with a series of minute depressions in irregular lines of an encrinitic appearance, but evidently artificial: very fine, a unique object. $2\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

764 Stone implement from Swayne Co., N. C.; pointed and grooved. $4\frac{1}{4}$ x $\frac{5}{8}$.

BEADS.

765 Beads from a mound in Tenn.: from the columnella of the conch-shell, mostly covered with a brown incrustation, which has evidently protected the substance from decay: of uniform medium size: a fine lot. 19 pieces.

766 Beads from Sterritt's mound, Tenn.: like the preceeding, but average larger: a very fine lot. 15 pieces.

767 Beads, E. Tenn.: variety in form, some flattened, one of extra large size: all fine. 9 pieces.

768 Beads of shell from a Florida mound: variety in form, but of tolerably uniform size, dia. above $\frac{1}{4}$ in.: very fine. 65 pieces.

769 Similar lot from Florida mound: equally fine. 39 pcs.

770 Beads, Florida: different in form, being long, cylindrical: fine. 16 pieces.

771 Beads, from Eastern Tenn.: average larger than any of the other lots: very fine. 15 pieces.

772 Beads, S. C.: flat disc form, polished: very fine: dia. $\frac{5}{8}$ in.: rare. 9 pcs.

773 Beads, duplicate lot: some smaller. 10 pieces.

774 Beads of similar material, Ind.: dia. about 1 in.: extra lot. 5 pieces.

775 Wampum, N.H.: a string of black and white, disc-shape shell beads: dia. of each $\frac{3}{8}$ in.: very fine and rare: length of string 5 in., number of beads 67.

776 Wampum: two shorter strings, on one the beads are the same size, on the other a very little smaller, N. H.: all fine: rare. About 70 beads in all.

777 Long cylindrical Bead of bone or ivory, one end broken. This bead was dug from an Indian grave in Wyoming, near the Rocky Mountains. 4 x $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

785 Large bone or shell Beads, Big Sandy River, West Va.; grave relics. 5 pieces.

784 Ancient glass Bead, Indian grave, N. C.; enameled, disintegrated by age. diam. 1 in.

785 Stone Beads, not perforated; fine. 2 pieces.

786 Long cylindrical Beads; one of stone, one of pottery, may be portions of ancient pipe stems. 2 pieces.

787 Discoidal Bead, appears to be of quartz or chalcedony; a rare object; diam. ¾ in.

788 Beads or Whorl Stones from the North of Europe, one with a series of grooves around it; both fine. diam. 1¼ in. 2 pieces.

789 Whorl Stone, Norway; fine; diam. 1¼ in.

790 Long shell Beads; one flat and large, some of medium size, and a disc-shaped perforated ornament, two fossil teeth and an inscribed stone, a lunar cycle, and other objects, all from Silver Creek Mound, Ind.; an interesting lot. 18 pieces.

791 Skin Dresser or Scraper, Fla.; made from the conch-shell, triangular; perfect and very rare. 3 x 2.

792 Skin Dresser; like the last, very fine, a rare implement; triangular. 3¼ x 1¾.

793 Curved, perforated bone Needle from a Tenn. mound; perfect and extremely rare; length 3 in.

794 Long bone Needle, Sterritt's Mound, Blount Co., Tenn.; fine. 4¼.

795 Bone Needle, same locality. 4½ in.

EUROPEAN PREHISTORIC STONE OBJECTS.

The nine following pieces, and first three from the valley of Somme, represent a class of implements now generally conceded to be the most ancient of all existing remains of human labor on the earth.

796 Flint Axe, France; fine. 3¼ x 2½.

797 Flint Axe, Presigny-le-Grand, found Sept. 4, 1877; fine, rare. 4 x 1¾.

798 Flint Axe, France; of doubtful authenticity; well-formed knives appear to have been flaked from the surface of this object. 3 x 2.

799 Flint Axe, France; fine. 3¼ x 2¼.

800 Perforated Hammer, Denmark; of dark granitic stone; of pretty form, very ancient in appearance, perfect, rare. 4 x 2.

801 Perforated Hammer, Denmark: flats nearly parallel, head contracts above the perforation, and a little chipped: fine, rare. 5 x 2.

802 Perforated Hammer of large size, Denmark: shape almost identical with the blacksmith's ordinary sledge hammer: the head shows an ancient break; fine, rare. 6 x 3.

803 Large Celt, Norway: in form closely resembling a common type of American celt, material appears to be sandstone: fine, and much rarer than the flint celts. $7\frac{1}{2}$ x 3.

804 Perforated Granite Celt, a little broken above the perforation, otherwise fine; a rare object. $4\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$.

805 Flint Celt, Denmark: paleolithic, square head, expanding edge: very fine, indeed. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

806 Flint Celt, Germany; sides and flats partly polished: fine. 5 x $2\frac{1}{4}$.

807 Flint Celt, Denmark: paleolithic and rudely wrought, one side shows the original flint crust: very fine, rare. 7 x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

808 Flint Gouge, Denmark; by European archaeologists called a hollow chisel; square head, edge broadly expanding; very fine, rare. 5 x 2.

809 Flint Celt, Denmark: paleolithic: very fine. 7 x 2.

810 Flint Gouge, Germany; neolithic, flats polished: fine, very rare. 7 x 2.

811 Flint Celt, Denmark: edge slightly hollowed, oblong, top thin, sides and flats polished. 5 x $2\frac{3}{4}$.

812 Flint Celt, Denmark; top broken, all sides polished: large and fine. 6 x $2\frac{3}{4}$.

813 Flint Celt; nearly square, flats polished, edge has been repaired. $5\frac{1}{2}$ x 2.

814 Flint Celt of large size, Denmark: one flat polished, edge formed by chipping: fine, rare. 7 x $3\frac{1}{4}$.

815 Narrow Chisel, Denmark: flint: nearly square, all sides polished. $3\frac{1}{2}$ x $\frac{7}{8}$.

816 Flint-flaked Knife, Denmark. $4\frac{1}{2}$ x $\frac{7}{8}$.

817 Semi-lunar Knife, Denmark. 4 x $1\frac{1}{2}$.

818 Elliptical Knife: flint; one end squared: fine. 4 x $1\frac{3}{4}$.

819 Flint Oyster Knife, with curved handle, Germany. $3\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

820 Flint Lance Head, Denmark: elliptical, finely wrought; rare. $5\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

821 Flint Dagger or Lance Head, Denmark; fine. 5½ x 1¾.

822 Flint Dagger, Germany; fine. 5 x 1.

823 Flint Lance Head, Denmark; very fine, of beautiful workmanship. 6¼ x 1¾.

824 Flint Lance Head, Denmark; slightly curved and finely wrought. 6 x 1.

PIPES, WEAPONS, ETC., OF SAVAGES.

825 Pipe of red catlinite, in shape of a tomahawk, work of the Sioux Indians; perfect. 5¾ x 3.

826 Pipe of catlinite, in form a spear-head; from the same tribe; perfect. 7¼ x 3½.

827 Pipe of catlinite; Sioux work, the bowl a horse's head and neck; perfect, a rare form. 5½ x 2¼.

828 Pipe; horse's head and neck, with mane; Sioux workmanship; catlinite, slightly broken. 2¾ x 2.

829 Indian Pipe Stem; pretty design, neatly carved, can be made to fit either of the pipes; interesting example of savage workmanship; length 10½, dia. 1 in.

830 Pipe of jadite, or some similar stone; resembles in form the ordinary pipe, but far more graceful; the bowl and stem have ornamental carving. One of the most elegant pieces of work in stone that I have ever met with. As to the origin of this pipe I am uncertain, but have been informed that it is from Africa, near the Cape of Good Hope. The stem is broken off but can be easily repaired, as no fragment is missing; length 5¼ in., dia. stem, ¾ in., of the bowl, ¾.

831 Wampum Belt, from the collection of the late Chief Justice, Sir James Reid of Montreal, described in the catalogue as rare and valuable. This belt, of Indian tanned buckskin, is 31 inches long and 2¼ in. wide; the surface is covered with minute sections of the quills of some small bird strung on fine sinews, arranged in that style of ornamentation called herring-bone, in colors red, white and black; the beads, as they may be called, are in length less than one-sixteenth of an inch, and the diameter so small that the perforation can scarcely be seen by the naked eye, with strings at the end, and deep fringe wound spirally with portions of quills; altogether a most remarkable and interesting object.

832 A Child's Coat, made from the tanned skin of the caribou, sewed with sinews, and beautifully ornamented in red and other bright colors: the coat is of stylish form and make, and the ornamentation is simply elegant: scarcely any soiled; a very fine and most unusual example of the work of the Nescoppe Indians of the Coast of Labrador.

833 Indian bag made from the dressed skin of the young caribou, covered with artistic designs in bright colors, the material somewhat wormed, but perfectly clean: and a prettier example of the work of the Labrador Indians it would be hard to find. Size 18 x 13 in.

834 Trencher, or plate, of hard wood, finely carved; taken by a former owner from an Esquimo hut on the coast of Labrador; perfect, oval. 11 x 8.

835 Stone implement, a slung-shot: white stone of the hardness of quartz, elongated egg-shape, highly-polished, perforated at one end, attached to a close-twisted grass cord; 4 ft. in length, with handle, the stone itself 3 in. in length, and 1½ in dia.; from the Fiji Islands; perfect and rare.

836 Specimen of Esquimo art; a slate about 3 in. square, engraved on one side, with two men standing with arms outspread, between them what may be a standard, on the other side a building, with a horse, a bird and a human head; in the sky above, the moon and stars; attached to the slate by a blue tape two bone handles, engraved; a great curiosity. From the Ralston Collection.

837 Indian Arrow Head of iron. 2½ in.

838 Indian Ear Ornaments; pendants cut from the abalona shell, with blue and white beads. 4 pieces.

839 Triangular shark-tooth Sword; more than 120 sharks' teeth firmly fastened in three cutting rows; a formidable weapon from the South Sea Islands. Length 29 inches.

840 Double-edged shark-tooth Knife, South Sea Islands; curved; fine. Length 14 in.

841 Large Feather Cape of long Coeque plumes. Whether this is Indian or from the South Seas I am uncertain. 18 in. x 3 feet. Originally a very elegant affair, now somewhat soiled and damaged.

841*a* War Hat of an Indian Brave; native tanned leather, the brim turned up in points, ornamented with paint and red flannel, the top covered with two large tufts of feathers of the black eagle, with several tall white feathers that wave as the wearer marches; a showy piece of savage head-gear which it would be difficult to duplicate.

NETSUKES.

These Japanese carvings in ivory are many of great age. They were used as toggles or buttons for the purpose of suspending from a belt the fans, the knife, or other article of personal equipment which a Japanese carries about him. They are fine specimens of carving, nearly all of grotesque design.

842 Man sitting on the head of a monster frog.
843 Monkey eating a small animal.
844 Groaning devil's face.
845 Woman with wolf's head.
846 Ape seated.

848 Japanese god of longevity.
849 Daikokun, Japanese god of wealth.
850 Rat in sack of rice; symbolic of Daikokun.
851 Large shell with two parasitic shells; emblematic souvenirs of the Ainos, the traditional ancestors of the oldest Japanese families.
852 A mythological monster.
853 The Corean dog.
854 Imp's head on a wheel.
855 Big-bearded woman in swaddling clothes.
856 Horse in a very unusual position.
857 Bare-legged woman.
858 Imp in a sack.
859 A grotesque dwarf.
860 Man carrying dish on his shoulder.
861 Long-bearded man tormented by an imp.
862 Reclining goat.
863 Misshapen human figure leaning on cane.
864 Man bearing a water skin.
865 A bear.

912 Seal, gilt; a large carnelian, with coat of arms, motto "Persevere": oval; very fine. $1\frac{3}{8}$ x $1\frac{1}{8}$.

913 Large blood-stone Seal, with fine gold setting. $1\frac{1}{4}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$.

914 Seal: lapis lazuli: the handle a Zouave with bugle: has ring for suspension; gilt, fine. height $1\frac{1}{2}$ in.

915 Seal, watch key; carnelian, with gold or gilt setting. $1\frac{7}{8}$ x $1\frac{1}{8}$.

916 Mother of pearl Seal, the handle a fine Chinese carving, monsters, etc.; vegetable ivory; monogram J. S. or I. S. height $3\frac{1}{4}$ in.

817 A pair of heavy silver Suspender Buckles, with chains and loops: very fine, rare. Buckles $2\frac{1}{8}$ x $2\frac{1}{8}$, chain with loops $10\frac{1}{2}$ in.

918 Pair of large Shoe Buckles; steel, very fine. 3 x $2\frac{3}{4}$.

919 Another pair of Shoe Buckles; gilt, fine. $2\frac{5}{8}$ x 2.

920 Large Snuff Box: white enamel on copper; six fine miniature paintings. $3\frac{3}{4}$ x $1\frac{7}{8}$.

921 Carnelians, cut for setting; square, octagon, etc., average size about $\frac{3}{4}$ in.; fine. 26 pieces.

922 Trilobites; all fine and of medium size. 10 pieces.

923 An Ancient Box made in Holland, dated 1636, of very heavy, dense wood, contains place for a pair of scales, has sixteen weights arranged in the top, with a sliding cover, six large weights in the box and twelve more in a drawer; these weights are stamped with the devices of various gold coins current two hundred and fifty years ago; at that period these cases of weights and scales were carried on voyages by navigators, and were in use amongst merchants for determining the weight and value of gold coins. An authentic and curious relic. 5 x $2\frac{5}{8}$ x $1\frac{5}{8}$.

924 Perfume Box, silver-gilt, ornamented with vines and grapes; the prettiest box in the sale. $1\frac{3}{8}$ x 1.

925 Alligators' Teeth, large size. 5 pieces.

926 Bell-metal Mortar with pestle, encircled with two ornamental raised bands; very old. Height 5 in., dia. $6\frac{3}{8}$ in., pestle $9\frac{1}{2}$ in.

927 Bell-metal Mortar of small size, sides strengthened by four heavy flanges, the top much expanded; in perfect order, though the sides are bulged from long use; pestle $8\frac{1}{2}$ in. The age of this mortar is doubtless 250 or 300 years. Height $3\frac{1}{2}$ in., diam. $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.

CATALOGUES.

So many inquiries were addressed to me concerning my series of Catalogues, that, in October, 1882, I published a list of the first fifty sales for the benefit of correspondents. This list I am happy to send in answer to inquiries, and I here append a continuation of the list to the present date by numbers. It is to be understood that these catalogues are all printed in a limited edition of fifty copies only, on extra thick, tinted paper. All are neatly priced in ink, and sold at the prices named. The illustrated ones contain one or more plates each, as indicated by the numbers preceding the abbreviation Pl.

This series of catalogues, in extra style, can be had only on personal application. Each one costs fully as much as is asked for it, hence I am unable to offer any inducement to dealers to supply them.
